

Rev. Dr. Clive Ayre and Gail Ayre have supported the Christmas Bowl for over forty years.

Rev. Dr. Clive Ayre has always been concerned about what we can do to be part of the answer rather than part of the problem. It's a philosophy that he and his wife Gail live by.

Clive first heard about the Christmas Bowl through his church. He became more actively involved in 1977, when he became the General Secretary of the Queensland State Committee of the Australian Council of Churches. And, to this day, Clive and Gail remain involved through their regular gifts to the work of Act for Peace and the Christmas Bowl.

“Leaving a gift just seemed like a natural extension of our faith - to go one step further.”

Clive says, “If somebody was thinking of leaving a gift to the Christmas Bowl, I would encourage them to think of extending themselves beyond the reach of their mortal life.”

By making a simple addition to their Wills, Clive and Gail know their lifelong commitment will continue, helping to share God's love with the world long into the future.

“It doesn't have to be all one way or the other. We'll also be taking care of our family. Charity might begin at home, but it certainly doesn't stay there.”
